Your organisation continues to provide an excellent service to both the Capital Projects and planning and the Facilities and Property Management visions on small building projects.

Imperial College London

New ways of teaching and connecting students is key to Imperials ongoing goal to be better for there students. As part of this Quest were asked to create several media studios to which could offer remote teaching, filmed talks and lectures.

The key with such spaces is noise reduction, and when implementing within an existing fabric and prove difficult. Working with Imperial's team we overcame all issues and ensured a sound tight solution was met.
