A Professional and dedicated team delivered this project on time and during the COVID-19 pandemic. Well done Quest !

University College of London,
December 2021

Quest were appointed at stage 3 to develop and deliver a new teaching facility for UCL Engineering. The works included new services, a new floor layout and finishes. The new space will provide UCL a new flexible space to which can be adapted to suit the style of teaching needed.

The project was completed during the COVID-19 pandemic, to which created added hurdles for the team to overcome. With a professional team approach with UCL and their team the project was delivered on time and a delighted end user.
